VS.

COUNT DOOKU & SUPREME CHANCELLOR PALPATINE

Picture it: The Jedi have seen through Chancellor Palpatine's deception. Anakin learns that the seemingly kind man was not his friend, but instead a Sith Lord in disguise! Shocked at this discovery, Skywalker and Windu speed to an abandoned warehouse on Coruscant, where the Sith Lords conspire.

THE SHOWDOWN

The impressionable Anakin is less able to put aside his surprise at discovering the deeply rooted Sith conspiracy than the steady Mace Windu. Dooku takes advantage of Anakin's distraction to release a torrent of lightning at the Jedi intruders. Once, Palpatine would have spared Anakin, but with his entire plot of galactic conquest threatened, the shadowy Sith Lord will destroy anyone who obstructs his path to absolute power. Can Anakin collect his bearings and work with Mace—a Jedi Master with whom he hasn't always seen eye-to-eye?

LUKE SKYWALKER, DEWBACK & BIGGS DARKLIGHTER

VS.

GAMORREAN GUARD, GIRAN & JABBA'S RANCOR

A detour in the Tatooine wilderness can quickly turn deadly. Local boys Biggs and Luke ride a loyal dewback into the cooling shadows of Beggar's Canyon to escape the blazing suns overhead. There, they stumble across one of Jabba's beast-masters, Giran, taking his beloved rancor for a walk alongside a Gamorrean protector. The rancor's hungry howls soon echo off the canyon walls....

THE SHOWDOWN

Biggs and Luke have heard tales of horrid beasts that Jabba keeps for his amusement, but this is their first encounter with such a nightmare. The dewback bucks off his two riders and panics, trying to scramble out of the gravelly canyon and escape the danger. The ravenous rancor eyes the most satisfying morsel amid a buffet of prey: the well-muscled dewback. Giran tries in vain to rein the rancor in, while the violent Gamorrean sees the humans as a chance to practice his axe skills.

SEBULBA, DUD BOLT & PIT DROID

YOUNG ANAKIN, KITSTER BANAI & WALD

Sticky-fingered Wald uses the bustle of the Podrace hangar as cover to steal a poorly guarded power charge for a Podracer. # THE SHOWDOWN

The nasty Sebulba thinks very little of slaves, so he hurls withering Huttese insults at the boys. Anakin and his pals hold their ground, but Skywalker's temper flares when his friends are threatened. The dull-minded Dud Bolt snorts and charges his way forward, but the youngsters are fast enough to slip past his rushing attack. The most unpredictable element in this bout is the pit droid. The frazzled mechanic has been ordered simply to "clean up this mess"—so the overly literal droid uses its surprisingly enormous strength to heave combatants into a nearby bin.

THE SHOWDOWN

The two smugglers, more than others in their line of work, know the value of loyalty. Never ones to let their guard down in a seedy starport, Han and Nien fight well together, watching each other's back when the laser blasts start flying. The bounty hunters are accustomed to working alone—and both want to be the one to claim the sizable price on Han's head. They have a difficult time coordinating their onslaught, but they have the edge when it comes to firepower.

Nothing is more dangerous than a bored Geonosian noble. # THE SHOWDOWN

Sun Fac's wings give him a great advantage, as the Geonosian can hover out of range of the nexu's and acklay's swipes. From this lofty height, he can lob sonic blasts at the beasts. Zam's shapeshifting abilities are of little help in the open battlefield of the arena, but her blaster rifle provides the longest-range attack of the combatants. The stabbing acklay is fast over short distances, but its spiked legs make it incapable of leaping like the nexu and the varactyl. Though not as spectacular as the more colorful creatures assembled, the orray is very loyal, and attacks at Sun Fac's command.

THE SHOWDOWN

The gusty winds of Cato Neimoidia effectively ground Boba Fett, who won't risk losing control of his rocket pack. Grievous is so focused on his hatred of the Jedi that he mostly ignores Chewbacca, until the Wookiee closes in enough to tear a few of the general's arms from their sockets. But Grievous has limbs to spare, and when the fight gets too tight to use blasters and instead turns to fists and lightsabers, the outcome is anyone's guess.

THE SHOWDOWN

The Neimoidians despise conflict and would do anything to avoid imprisonment. After trying to bribe their way out of a fight—appeals to greed are wasted on the protocol droid, Jar Jar, and Bibble—Gunray and Haako take a deep breath and charge atop their beast, hoping the animal will know what to do. # THE SHOWDOWN

Protecting the sanctity of the Emperor's personal chambers is very strong motivation for the fiercely loyal Imperials. How does such inspiration compare to precision logic and programming? IG-88 is quick to realize that his objective cannot be reached, and switches to a secondary directive: escaping intact. His multiple weapons erupt in a hailstorm of destructive power, forcing the Imperials to seek what little cover there is. This allows the MagnaGuard to close the distance and engage the enemy one-on-one. Blaster bolts and explosive shrapnel ricochet off the gleaming surfaces in the throne room, missing the panoramic viewports by centimeters.

THE SHOWDOWN

Immense waves of water break against the supporting stilts of the city, and the Jedi must use their strength to keep from getting pitched into the restless seas. The creatures have sheer mass on their side, particularly the sando, which twists maddeningly. Though the Jedi could carve up their foes with lightsabers, they find taking the lives of such huge living things distasteful and against the principles of the Force. The poor creatures are the result of misguided science, after all, and their violent actions come from their distress, a fact the Jedi deeply respect.

THE SHOWDOWN

Mustafarian air contains not a drop of moisture, a fact that Tarpals and Fisto immediately feel in their lungs. The ovenlike conditions are draining, and Tarpals does not benefit from the healing Force abilities Kit has at his disposal. The Mustafarian thief immediately bolts—the speed and energy of his mount mean he expends no energy of his own. Kit and Tarpals can keep up for a time; Gungans are prodigious jumpers and Kit can Force leap, but before the fight even begins, it's an endurance contest. Can this acrobatic, aquatic duo go the distance across a searing obstacle course?

Lando prefers talking to shooting; he tries to use his authority as administrator to persuade the Ugnaughts to stand down, but they're too dedicated to their cause. The hog-men roll out their reprogrammed droideka. The machine is immune to any negotiation and pumps volleys of laser blasts at the Cloud City team. Lobot is strangely immobile, telepathically linking to the computer network controlling the room. The carbon-freezing chamber suddenly comes to life with a mix of light, noise, and steam, buying Lando's team a chance to regroup.

The bounty on Amidala stipulates that proof of her elimination must be brought in. This requires the hunters to get in close, because a distant shot might send the Senator tumbling into the waiting Sarlacc. This is the way Dannik, Amanaman, and Myo prefer to battle—face-to-face. Myo's ability to heal wounds and regrow organs makes him the most fearless, and he rushes into combat. Dannik senses great potential in Padmé, something that stokes his hungry vampire-like appetite. # THE SHOWDOWN

At first, Prime Minister Lama Su is hesitant to let the clone soldiers apprehend Jango, for the Kaminoan knows the monetary value of the original clone template. But Su also recognizes that loyalty to the Republic is better for business. Cody is reluctant to open fire on the clone host, but Bacara does not exhibit any such sentimentality. # THE SHOWDOWN

This diabolical trap came to Zuckuss in one of his fevered dreams, though the vision failed to detail just how unpredictable an aggravated wampa could be. The howling beast at first focuses his rage on the Jedi, but it has no loyalty to the hunters—it wants all the intruders out of its cave. The hunters must carefully protect themselves from the ice monster, while trying to keep the Jedi and Bly at bay.

Among the soldiers of the Rebel strike force dispatched to the forest moon of Endor were highly trained Dressellian commandos, freedom fighters from an Imperial-occupied world. # THE SHOWDOWN Teebo acts as a lure for the scout walker, taunting the pilots with well-lobbed rocks that bounce harmlessly off the AT-ST's armored skin. The vehicle plods into a thick grove of trees concealing the Dressellians, who drop from above onto the walker's head. Teebo and the commandos do all they can to stay close to the AT-ST, where its weapons cannot target them, but this leaves them vulnerable to the walker's crushing feet. Marquand and Watts realize they may need to exit their protective cockpit to deal with their foes.

THE SHOWDOWN

As a hired gun, Aldar Beedo is the most experienced combatant, but he has to keep his true occupation secret. Though his large hands conceal a blaster, he's hesitant to use it, as none of the rowdy racers are his target. Teemto focuses on his rival Mars, while Ratts is eager to clobber anyone within his tiny reach. Ody finds the whole mess hilarious and dives into the thick of the brawl with a grin on his face. Ben, terrified of the noise, tries to slink away unnoticed. When the brawlers take to their vehicles, the fight becomes a chase.

THE SHOWDOWN

The animals aren't the most deadly foes in the room: The room itself is a real problem! With every passing minute, the walls move closer to one another. As the space tightens, the scavengers become more frenzied and dangerous. The magnetic seal means Ackbar must be careful with his blaster, or a missed shot might become a deadly ricochet. The seal protects the door from Luke's lightsaber, but R2-D2 may have the tools he needs to bypass the lock if he's given time to work. Unfortunately, the Mynock sees the energy-rich R2-D2 as the tastiest target in the room. Meanwhile, the dianoga is looking for a victim to drag under the scummy water.

THE SHOWDOWN

Maul and Vader are experienced in carrying out the will of their Master, but being on a team is not their strength. Yoda and Qui-Gon are used to working with other Jedi, and their immediate defensive postures cover each other's weaknesses. Yoda's quick moves and nimble jumps complement Qui-Gon's long strides and reach. The impatient Maul leads the charge, creating a wide fan of deadly light when he swings his double lightsaber. Even Vader is forced to give him ample berth. Vader's steady, powerful strikes require full strength to parry and push back, but his mechanical body is clearly the slowest of the lot.

THE EXPERTS' PICKS

p. 4-5:

Anakin Skywalker & Mace Windu vs. Count Dooku & Supreme Chancellor Palpatine

Winner: Team 2, Count Dooku & Supreme Chancellor Palpatine

Anakin fails to work effectively with Windu, and the Sith Lords triumph—though their plot is now exposed.

p. 6-7:

Luke Skywalker, Biggs Darklighter & Dewback vs. Gamorrean Guard, Giran & Jabba's Rancor

Winner: Team 2, Gamorrean Guard, Giran & Jabba's Rancor

The barely controllable rancor chomps Luke's dewback, but in his hurry to feed, it accidentally stomps on the Gamorrean. Luke and Biggs escape, leaving Giran to wait for his pet to finish feeding.

p. 8-9:

Sebulba, Dug Bolt & Pit Droid vs. Young Anakin, Kitster Banai & Wald

Winner: A draw

The pit droid becomes such a nuisance that it's all the combatants can do to tap it on the nose and deactivate it. The boys escape with a few bruises, but Sebulba and Dug get their power back.

p. 10-11:

Dengar & Greedo vs. Han Solo & Nien Nunb

Winner: Team 2, Han Solo & Nien Nunb

The smugglers work as a team. The bounty hunters trip over themselves as they both greedily target Han, which gives Nien the chance to tip the odds by taking out Greedo. Outclassed, Dengar retreats into the streets, letting Han and Nien escape.

p. 12-13:

Zam Wesell, Acklay & Nexu vs. Sun Fac, Varactyl & Oray

Winner: Team 1, Zam Wesell, Acklay & Nexu
Zam's sharpshooting takes care of Sun Fac's aerial advantage, while the nexu tears through the oray. Against those odds, the varactyl is soon overwhelmed.

p. 14-15:

Boba Fett & General Grievous vs. Obi-Wan Kenobi & Chewbacca

Winner: Team 2, Obi-Wan Kenobi & Chewbacca
Chewbacca is able to win against Grievous, leaving Obi-Wan the sole lightsaber combatant on the field. He and the Wookiee force Fett to retreat.

p. 16-17:

Nute Gunray, Rune Haako & Falumpaset vs. Jar Jar Binks, C-3PO & Sio Bibble

Winner: Team 2, Jar Jar Binks, C-3PO & Falumpaset

The Neimoidians are done in by their skittish mount, which bucks and tramples them.

p. 18-19:

General Veers, Imperial Royal Guard & Stormtrooper vs. MagnaGuard & IG-88

Winner: Team 2, MagnaGuard & IG-88

The battle is close, until IG-88 blasts out one of the room's viewports, blowing the air out into space, leaving only the droids standing.

p. 20-21:

Pio Koon, Ki-Adi-Mundi & Agen Kolar vs. Aiwcha, Sando Aqua Monster & Colo Claw Fish

Winner: Team 1, Pio Koon, Ki-Adi-Mundi & Agen Kolar

As fierce and imposing as the sea beasts are, they have simple, singularly focused minds. Together, the Jedi are able to steer the sando back to its massive pen, though the colo dies of injuries and the aiwcha simply flees.

p. 22-23:

Captain Tarpals & Kit Fisto vs. Mustafarian Thief & Lava Flea

Winner: Team 2, Mustafarian Thief & Lava Flea
The environment slows Kit and Tarpals down so much that the Mustafarian stop his flea is able to flee. He wins without even having to fight, escaping with the stolen goods.

p. 24-25:

Lando Calrissian, Cloud City Wing Guard & Lobot vs. Droideka & Ugnaughts

Winner: Team 1, Lando Calrissian, Cloud City Wing Guard & Lobot

Lobot is Lando's secret weapon. His connection to the computer network lets him limit the Ugnaughts' destructive potential.

p. 26-27:

Wedge Antilles & Jek Porkins vs. Captain Piett & TI Fighter Pilot

Winner: Team 1, Wedge Antilles & Jek Porkins
Though they've won this fight, they've lost whatever objective the diplomatic meeting was trying to achieve.

p. 28-29:

Old Ben Kenobi & Ronto vs. Dice Ibegon, Lak Sivrak & Hem Dazon

Winner: Team 1, Old Ben Kenobi & Ronto
Kenobi mind-tricks his way through the scenario, though the ronto does not survive the encounter.

p. 30-31:

Merumeru & Tarful vs. Tank Droid & Dwarf Spider Droid

Winner: Team 1, Merumeru & Tarful
The Wookiees have the home-field advantage and are too agile for the heavy cannons of the droids to track.

p. 32-33:

Coleman Trebor & Adi Gallia vs. 4-LOM & Aurra Sing

Winner: Team 2, 4-LOM & Aurra Sing
It's close. 4-LOM doesn't survive, but provides support to let Aurra Sing defeat the Jedi, just as she planned.

p. 34-35:

Princess Leia & Wicket W. Warrick vs. A Dozen Buzz Droids

Winner: Team 1, Princess Leia & Wicket W. Warrick

Buzz droids are unsettling, but their weapons are designed to fight machinery that doesn't fight back.

p. 36-37:

Jabba the Hutt, Bubo & Pote Snitkin vs. Bantha, Tusken Chief & Tusken Raider

Winner: Team 2, Bantha, Tusken Chief & Tusken Raider

Let this be a lesson that the Jundland Wastes are not to be traveled lightly. They belong to the warlike Tusken.

p. 38-39:

Padmé Amidala, Sabé & Captain Typho vs. Dannik Jerriko, Myo & Amanaman

Winner: Team 2, Dannik Jerriko, Myo & Amanaman

A costly battle: Only Dannik survives to claim his prize.

p. 40-41:

Jango Fett & Young Boba Fett vs. Commander Cody, Commander Bacara & Lama Su

Winner: Team 2, Commander Cody, Commander Bacara & Lama Su

The clones defeat Jango. Young Boba escapes—but he is now the clones' sworn enemy.

p. 42-43:

Shaak Ti, Aayla Secura & Commander Bly vs. Zuckuss, Bossk & Wampa

Winner: Team 1, Shaak Ti, Aayla Secura & Commander Bly

Though fierce, the wampa is not blaster- or lightsaber-proof.

p. 44-45:

Orrimaarko, Major Panno & Teebo vs. Major Marquand, Lieutenant Watts & AT-ST Walker

Winner: Team 1, Orrimaarko, Major Panno & Teebo

Well-placed explosives in the leg assembly cripple the AT-ST. Its outmatched pilots are forced to surrender.

p. 46-47:

Dexter Jettster, Danni Faytonni & Achk Med-Beg vs. Tonnik Sisters & Elan Sleazebaggano

Winner: Team 1, Dexter Jettster, Danni Faytonni & Achk Med-Beg

Dexter makes all the difference. Elan is overpowered and the sisters flee when the odds turn.

p. 48-49:

Ratts Tyerell, Mars Guo & Aldar Beedo vs. Teemto Pangalies, Ben Quadinaros & Ody Mandrell

Winner: Team 1, Ratts Tyerell, Mars Guo & Aldar Beedo

Despite Aldar's half-hearted efforts, Ratts's vigor tips the balance for his side.

p. 50-51:

Jedi Luke Skywalker, Admiral Akbar & R2-D2 vs. Worr, Mynock & Dianoga

Winner: Team 1, Jedi Luke Skywalker, Admiral Akbar & R2-D2

Ackbar and Luke protect R2-D2 long enough for the droid to shut down the trash masher.

p. 52-53:

Doctor Evazan & Ponda Baba vs. Muftak, Kabe & Momaw Nodon

Winner: Team 2, Muftak, Kabe & Momaw Nodon

Muftak plows past Baba and knocks Evazan out cold. Before Baba can retaliate, Momaw does the thug with a face full of rash power.

p. 54-55:

Luminara Unduli & Barriss Offee vs. Poggie the Lesser & Reek

Winner: Team 1, Luminara Unduli & Barriss Offee
A reek is no match for a lightsaber, and Luminara is soon able to join her Padawan in the chase for Poggie.

p. 56-57:

Max Rebo, Droopy McCool & Sy Snootles vs. Figrin D'an, Nalan Chee & Doikk Na'ts

Winner: Team 1, Max Rebo, Droopy McCool & Sy Snootles

Everyone is shocked when Sy pulls out a blaster and the fight turns deadly. Who knew she'd had experience as an assassin?

p. 58-59:

2-1B & FX-7 vs. IT-O & 8D8

Winner: Team 1, 2-1B & FX-7

Surprisingly, the medical droids triumph. The Java programming proves effective, and the well-paired droids disrupt their opponents.

p. 60-61:

Garindan, Tion Medon & Sly Moore vs. Wat Tambor, Lott Dod & Labria

Winner: Team 2, Wat Tambor, Lott Dod, & Labria

Tambor's prototype weapon first takes out Sly, which dissolves her mental disruptions, returning the advantage to Labria's team.

p. 62-63:

Darth Maul & Darth Vader vs. Qui-Gon Jinn & Yoda

Winner: Team 2, Qui-Gon Jinn & Yoda

The Sith are undone by their inability to pool their powers, and the Jedi prevail.
